

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to systems and methods for audio processing. For example, 5 the present invention provides systems and methods for receiving live speech, converting the speech to text, and transferring the text to a user. As desired, the speech or text can be translated into one or more different languages. Systems and methods for real-time conversion and transmission of speech and text are provided.

0929204-031401